RUSSIA-GERMANY ARMISTICE MAY BE DECLARED AT ONCE

SUSPICIOUS SHIP ROAMS SOUTH SEAS

Mysterious Vessel Thought to Be Union Liner Matunga in Disguise; May Be in Control of German Raiders

Suspicious actions of a slate-painted steamer in the South Seas has been officially reported to shipping firms and masters of vessels in the Pacific. It is intimated that the mysterious ship may be in control of enemies of the Allies.

The vessel is believed to be the S. S. Matunga of the Union Steamship line of which nothing has been heard since she disappeared two days after reporting her position from Brisbane to Rabaul.

While the report of this strange steamer and her actions have likely been given out by local naval intelligence officers, the spelling of certain words indicate that it is of British origin.

It was on August 5 at 2 a. m. that the master of the Union liner Matunga reported to Rabaul by wireless that she would arrive there two days later.

Since then a report has been received at Rabaul that a vessel whose description corresponds to the Matunga, but which was painted a slate color, was sighted on August 12 off Laughaian islands.

Thirteen days later the S. S. Marsina sighted a vessel east of Adele island which aroused suspicion by her failure to give her name, and because the unknown ship put out all her lights and altered her course.

Report of the actions of the mysterious ship naturally created the assumption that she had fallen into the hands of the 61 German raiders of the Seeadler who escaped from Mopeha island, after the wrecking of their ship, on a French steamer, the Lutete, which they captured.

But at the time of the disappearance of the Matunga these men were still on Mopeha island, according to Captain Harbor Smith's story. He was the navigator who first gave out the report of the operations of the raiders in the Atlantic and Pacific.

The 61 Germans who escaped from Mopeha island have never been captured and they left that island in the Lutete about the time the mysterious ship was sighted off Adele island.

The official report of the strange actions of the slate-colored steamer and the disappearance of the Matunga, which it is assumed, is the same vessel, is as follows:

"The S. S. Matunga from Brisbane to Rabaul direct reported to Rabaul on 5th August by W. T. that she would arrive at Rabaul at 2 a. m. 7th August, and has not since been heard of.

"A report has since been received at Rabaul that a vessel whose description corresponds to the Matunga but painted a slate color, was sighted off Laughaian island on 12th August.

"On 25th August at 9:45 the S. S. Marsina sighted a vessel east of Adele islands. The Marsina made Morse to her received a reply 'What ship'. The stranger then put out her lights and altered her course.

"The Matunga is flush decked, two masts, one funnel, one bridge before funnel above upper deck and boat deck cabins. Upper deck cabins amidships extend from No. 2 to No. 3 hold. Small deck house aft. Painted gray. Has wireless."

Stone Favors Warring On All German Allies

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Wireless.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.—Discussing the international situation, Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the upper house, said today:

"Declarations of war by the United States against Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria are exceedingly advisable and would simplify the situation, which is now anomalous.

"We are in fact now at war with Germany's allies." He says that congress should harmonize its policy with the executive branch of government.

Albert Betz, a seaman in the Honolulu fire department, has been called to serve in the United States navy, and his place with the department has been filled by L. Lando, who was promoted from watchboy to seaman.

SOLONS IMPRESSED WITH NEED OF MAKING PEARL HARBOR IMPREGNABLE

Congressmen Agree That Neither Money Nor Effort Should Be Spared to Make Naval Station Highly Fortified Strategic Point—Captain Clark Explains Needs

Members of the congressional party who paid a visit to the Pearl Harbor Naval station this morning and to whom the needs and requirements of the fort were outlined in detail, were unanimous in their opinion that no effort should be spared, and no sum should be too great to expend on making Pearl Harbor the most impregnable strategic position in the world. A total of eleven members made up this morning's party and in the words of one member "it would be better to appropriate more millions than not enough millions for the completion of the task."

Captain George R. Clark, commandant of the station, together with his staff, received the visitors on the steps of the administration building. Before making the survey trip about the station Captain Clark addressed the senators and congressmen. He said:

"Gentlemen, Pearl Harbor Naval station needs a great many things. I am going to lay all the cards on the table and I will leave it to your honor to keep them confidential."

"These islands and this harbor are so situated that it is the strategic key of the entire Pacific ocean. No enemy in attempting to attack the United States would overlook this position. There would be no value to their securing an advantage on the Pacific coast without first taking and holding

LIEUTENANCIES FOR MANY CANDIDATES

Those Commissioned Sent For Duty With Oahu Regiments

Brig.-Gen. John P. Wissler, commanding the Hawaiian department, today affixed to a department order his signature, attaching to local regiments for active duty, 75 men who have completed the training camp course at Schofield Barracks and received their commissions in the officers' reserve corps or national army.

Of this total of 75 men, 59 are newly commissioned, while 16 had previously been commissioned in the reserve corps. The order today attaching them to service with local regiments brings to a close the work of three hard months in the reserve training camp at Schofield.

Figured on a basis of 100 men, the number that began work at the camp, those who are included in today's orders represent 75 per cent. However, a number of men who entered the camp at the beginning were later called from there and placed with regiments or at headquarters. The number that have completed the course and have received commissions, therefore, is slightly above 75 per cent of the full enrollment.

Twelve captains, 43 first lieutenants and 20 second lieutenants are included in the total of those named in today's orders. Five of the 75 are commissioned in the national army, the remaining 70 are in the officers' reserve corps.

The training camp which closes today with the announcement of those commissioned and called to active service, began on August 27 of this year and has thus run a full course of three months.

Capt. Elvid Hunt, later promoted to major and called to the mainland, was the first commander of the camp. He was succeeded by Major (then Captain) Charles F. Leonard.

Capt. Thomas H. Lowe, Capt. Frank J. Riley, Capt. Alfred Greenway and Capt. C. P. Mueller, assistant instructors at the camp, have had a large part to do in the training of the men.

Capt. Herbert E. Wescott and A. L. C. Atkinson have been ordered to report to the department quartermaster for duty. Capt. H. G. Davies, signal reserve corps, is attached to Wire Co., B, 3rd Field Battalion, Fort Kamehameha, relieving Capt. William T. Peyton, signal officers' reserve corps.

First Lieut. Fay E. McCall will report to Co. E, 53rd Telegraph Battalion, signal corps, Fort Shafter.

The same cablegram told of the sailing of the Matsonia for the Atlantic, also stated that two of the Pacific Packers' sailing vessels had been turned over to the Matson people for a voyage to Honolulu.

HAWAII ASSURED OF TONNAGE FOR COAST TRAFFIC

The absolute necessity of having the Matson boats, Maui, Matsonia and Wilhelmina, in the Atlantic as troop ships is pointed out in a cablegram received Saturday from the federal shipping board by the Honolulu chamber of commerce which also added that the order requisitioning the ships could be rescinded but that tonnage will be substituted to take care of the Honolulu-coast trade. The cablegram was sent in answer to one despatched by the local chamber of commerce, which read as follows: "United States Shipping Board, Washington, D. C.

"Division of Matson steamers, Maui, Matsonia and Wilhelmina to Atlantic will seriously cripple transportation facilities for moving supplies required and for moving sugar crop. Tonnage proposed to replace entirely inadequate. Unless needs of government remain Pacific to take care necessary shipping requirements Hawaii or that action regarding their diversion be postponed."

"CHAMBER OF COMMERCE." The following answer from the federal shipping board at Washington, D. C., was as follows:

"Chamber of Commerce, Honolulu. "Military necessities for troop ships of speed and description Maui, Matsonia, Wilhelmina, absolutely requires those ships. Order requisitioning same cannot be rescinded. Tonnage will be substituted and islands need not fear curtailment of trade through lack of tonnage."

(Signed) "DONALD," "Member Shipping Board."

WATER PROBLEMS OF CITY PUT UP TO WASHINGTON

Word was received this morning by J. R. Galt, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce water supply committee, from officials of the United States Geological Survey at Washington, that Prof. Herbert E. Gregory, the scientist and explorer, who addressed the Chamber of Commerce on October 17 and urged securing federal experts to examine Honolulu's water supply, had called upon them and put Honolulu's problems up to that department. The geological survey experts promise Mr. Galt that he will hear from them definitely on the subject within a few weeks.

At present nearly all the federal experts have been called into active service by the demands of the war department. The Washington officials, however, will try to secure an expert to visit Honolulu and spend several months looking over the water situation here. After an examination of all water sources is made, expert opinion on the ways to conserve the drinking supply will be given the local Chamber of Commerce. Prof. Gregory was much interested in Honolulu's water problems, and promised to take the matter up personally with the geological survey chiefs in Washington. The letter received this morning shows that he has made good his promise.
